

Why I am Proud of my Veteran

My Veteran is LTC Joseph L. (Ren) Allred. I am proud because my grandpa served in Afghanistan, Iraq, Turkey, Nigeria and lots of other places to keep this country free and also to help other countries. My Grandpa never complained when he had to go back to a faraway place. My Veteran never shirked his duty to his country, his church, or his family. While Grandpa was in other countries all the Allred cousins would Skype him, and he always asked about what was going on, what you've been doing, and how you're doing. I am proud of my Veteran because he always took the time for his grandkids.

My Grandpa is always optimistic. He never is a pessimist about the war he is serving in, or when he'd ever get home. He never know's what might happen, but he is always prepared. I am proud of my Veteran because of his great service to our country and to other countries around the world. I'm grateful for my Veteran because when he was home he took time to talk to the parents and play games with the kids. I am very grateful and proud of my Veteran.

My Veteran never quits. He always perseveres and is a great example. He is still serving, but in America now. He is always a great example, always optimistic; always take time for his family. I am very proud of my Veteran and his great service.
